

EVERY CITY TELLS A STORY

An exhibition by Lonely Planet and Adrian Brannan

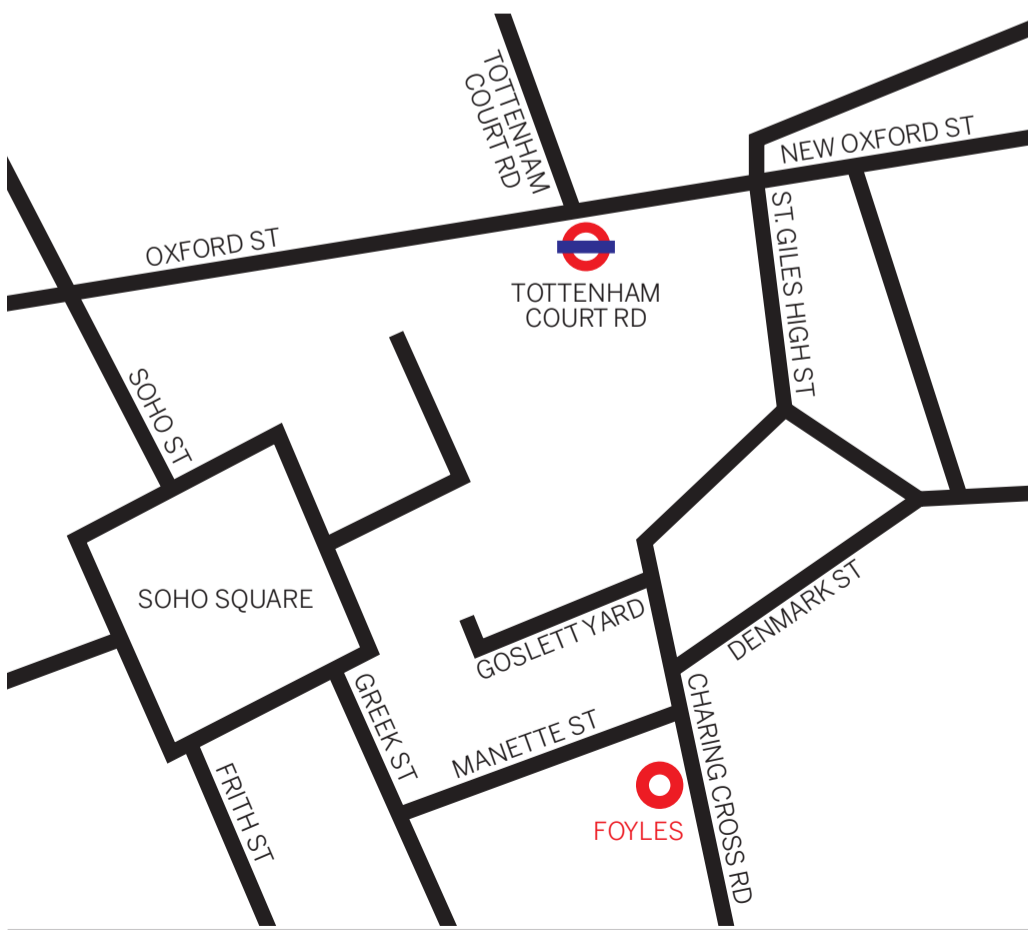

Please join us for drinks and an exclusive preview of Every City Tells a Story on Friday the 31st August at 6.30pm.

In March 2012 Lonely Planet collaborated with artist and photographer Adrian Brannan, developing a series of inspired artworks to celebrate the re-launch of our City and Pocket guidebook ranges.

Taking hundreds of photos in the same location over a period of time has enabled Adrian to capture the unique character of some of the world's most exciting cities.

This exhibition is a chance to view these original works by Adrian, alongside a selection of other city inspired images from Lonely Planet's wider travel community.

Please RSVP by Friday 10th August 2012, letting us know if you would like to bring a guest.
